Overview

- Transition Timelines
- Current Transition Pathways
- Mission Changes Focus of 91W
- Future Transition Pathways
- Transition Stats – Past to Present
- What's Next?
- Summary

91W Transition Timelines

- Active Component
  - 30 September 2007
- Reserve Components
  - 30 September 2009
- During transition period 91Ws with a Y2 identifier are considered MOSQ
  - (MEDCOM Cir 40-14)

Transition Pathways

- Grandfather
  - Obtain the Rank of E-7(P) during the transition period
- Current Advanced Certification
  - NREMT – Intermediate (85/99)
  - NREMT – Paramedic
- Transition Training

Current Transition Training Pathway

- Current NREMT-Basic (110hr); and
- Successful completion of BTLS or PHTLS Advanced Provider; and
- One of the following
  - Current unrestricted LVN/LPN license (91WM6)
  - Successful completion of 91B BNCOC A/C
  - Successful completion of 91B BNCOC R/C after 1 Oct 96
  - Trauma AIMS

“Y2” Removal

- USA (MILPER Message)
    - DA 4187 and supporting documentation to DA PERSCOM
  - USAR (91W Conversion Strategy)
    - DA 4187 and supporting documentation to AR PERSCOM
  - ARNG (All States Message)
    - Refer to individual State Order Issuing Authority

MOS Qualification

Soldiers holding the MOS 91W without the “Y2” identifier are subject to MOS Qualifications. (i.e. maintaining NREMT certification)

MEDCOM CIR 40-14

AR 40-68

The Global War on Terror

AMEDD Readiness Begins Here

Mission Changes Focus

- Using Lessons Learned in both OIF and OEF, a change in focus was identified.
- 91W's are continuously finding themselves in a combat zone with “Real World” combat trauma casualties.
- Research shows that uncontrolled hemorrhage is the number one killer on the battlefield, followed by an untreated tension pneumothorax.

Mission Changes Focus

- The 91W's mission focus is now providing effective Tactical Combat Casualty Care on the battlefield.
- With this change in focus a “new” 91W Transition Pathway has been developed.

91W Transition Pathway of the Future

- For those 91Ws requiring transition training the following pathway will be “The” Transition Pathway as of 15 Jun 05:
    - Phase 1: EMT-Basic w/ NREMT-B current-unrestricted certification.
    - Phase 2: 40 Hour Tactical Combat Casualty Care (TC3)

91W Transition Pathway of the Future

- EMT-Basic Course
  - 1) EMT-B 110hr Course
  - 2) EMT-B 80hr Course
    - To attend soldier must have attended ALT after 1 OCT 1988.
    - All 91A/91B courses contained EMT after this date.
    - Eligible due to attending a full 110hr course previously, and credited for patient care experience.

91W Transition Pathway of the Future

- Tactical Combat Casualty Care (TC3) 40hrs

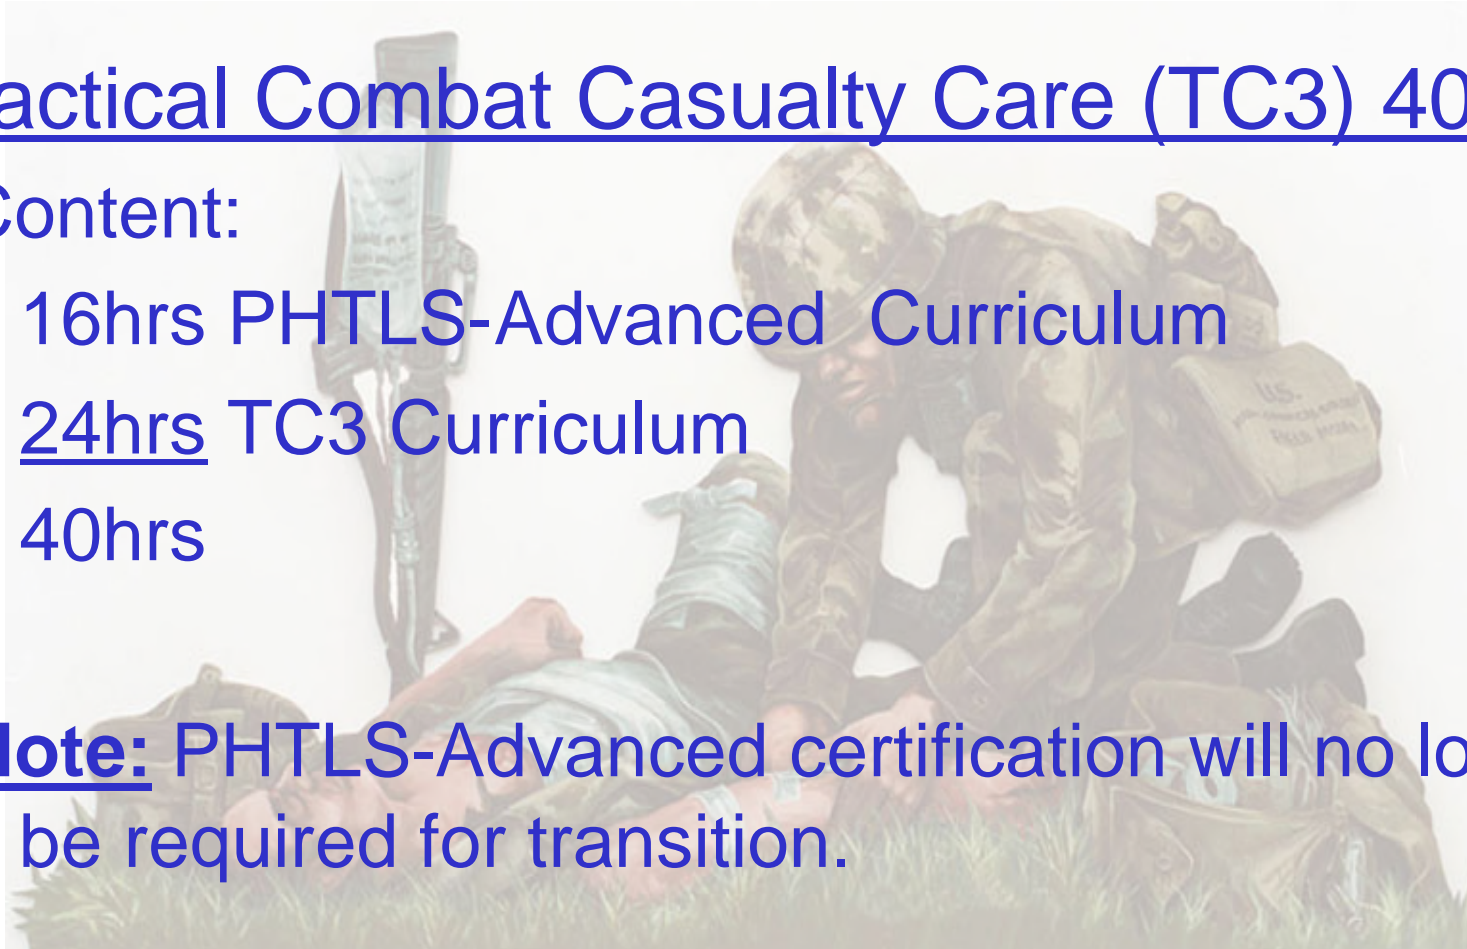

Content:

16hrs PHTLS-Advanced Curriculum

24hrs TC3 Curriculum

40hrs

Note: PHTLS-Advanced certification will no longer be required for transition.

91W Transition Pathway of the Future

- Clarification for PHTLS-A w/ TC3
  - Although PHTLS-A certification is not required, it is Highly suggested if possible.
  - What does this mean?
    - The curriculum will be trained regardless of whether certification (with card) is provided or not.
  - Why? - This allows units without certified PHTLS instructors to complete the TC3 requirement.

- What happens to those who have partially completed the “old” pathway?
    - Trauma AIMS + PHTLS-A / BTLS-A will be accepted until Jan 2006.
    - After Jan 2006, TC3 will be the only accepted pathway for “Phase 2” of transition.

91W Transition Stats

Analysis of the FY 05 Stats to Date...

This slide shows the overall 91W transition status in The Army (all components), The Army transition goals by FY, and transition status within MEDCOM.

Performance standards: Red is < 40%, Amber < 50%, Green ≥ 50%. Army Overall 59.1% Transitioned. MEDCOM Overall 84.8% Transitioned.

ANALYSIS:

What is the problem: Bottom line: Overall status is GREEN. MODS input shows The Army has exceeded the end of FY05 goal (59.1% vs. 50.0%). There are no major problems.

Why is it happening:

1. All MEDCOM RMC's continue to show increases & exceed the FY05 AC goal of 70%.
2. Low transition percentage remain, but are improving rapidly, in the USAR (36.8%) & ARNG (39.5%).

USAR has shown a 4.8 percentage point increase this quarter. ARNG has shown a 6.9 percentage point increase this quarter. 91W predeployment training has been a multiplier for the ARNG.

What is the solution: Continued central DASG resourcing for initial certification, books & equipment is essential to maintain the transition momentum. FORSCOM directed mobilization training support to ARNG should continue to provide greater transition percentages.

What's Next?

- Continue to push Transition Training at all levels, all components, all MACOMS.
- Do not allow deployment to deter training opportunities.
- Document training properly for sustainment.

Summary

- This is a new era, for the better
- Thank You to all 91W Trainers
- Leaders, it's up to YOU, continue to push forward
- “Tale of the Tape” is just around the corner
- The 91W Program will be successful!
